

Sisana Farley is not only thoughtful, creative and passionate about Gray Panthers' effectiveness at the United Nations, but she is extremely hard working. She understands well our role at the United Nations and makes every effort to ensure that the concerns of older persons and the linkages between generations are heard. As her supervisor, it is an honor that she chose to return as a Gray Panthers intern after last year's exceptional effort. Last year, she helped organize visits to the Missions of Member States of the United Nations, helped research and compile a global directory of government "Focal Points on Ageing", wrote numerous reports, was an effective volunteer at the Open Ended Working on Ageing, and more. We are lucky that she learns to "growl" as a Gray Panther again this year!

My name is Sisana Farley and I am a rising Senior at Brandeis University, pursuing degrees in Politics and International and Global Studies. This is my second summer working with the Gray Panthers and I am excited to see what we can accomplish this year, both internationally and domestically.
